Case No. 23-mc-80147-BLF

ORDER GRANTING EX PARTE
APPLICATION TO AUTHORIZE
FOREIGN DISCOVERY

[Re: ECF No. 1]

On May 22, 2023, Applicant Starship Entertainment Co., Ltd. filed an ex parte application pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1782 (“Section 1782”) for an order granting leave to obtain limited discovery from Respondent Google LLC (“Google”) in connection with a potential legal action in Korea. See ECF No. 1 (“App.”). For the reasons set forth below, the Court GRANTS the application.

I. BACKGROUND

Applicant is a limited liability company in Seoul, Republic of Korea that is engaged in the entertainment business and manages and trains K-pop singers and talents. Declaration of Seran Shim, ECF No. 1-1 (“Shim Decl.”) ¶¶ 2-3.

An Anonymous Individual using a YouTube channel named “[Taldeok Prison Camp] Sojang (‘[탈덕수용소] Sojang’ in the original Korean language)” published as many as twenty YouTube videos in which the Anonymous Individual states falsities concerning the Applicant, as well as its singers and talents. Shim Decl. ¶ 6. The YouTube Channel recently changed the web address, and Applicant suspects that the Anonymous Individual owns another YouTube channel. Id. ¶¶ 8-11, Exs. 2-3. Many of Applicant’s customers learn about Applicant on the internet, so the YouTube videos have had, and continue to have, a negative effect on Applicant’s business and

1 reputation. Id. ¶ 33.

2 Applicant has filed a civil lawsuit in the Seoul Central District Court in Seoul, Republic of 3 Korea against the Anonymous Individual, claiming defamation and business interference under
4 Articles 750 and 751 of the Civil Act of Korea. Shim Decl. ¶ 32; Declaration of Kyongsok
5 Chong, ECF No. 1-2 (“Chong Decl.”) ¶¶ 7-12. Applicant has been unable to identify the true
6 identity of the Anonymous Individual, which it needs to proceed with the case. Shim Decl. ¶¶ 34-
7 35; Chong Decl. ¶¶ 14-16.

8 Applicant seeks discovery of information relating to the Google and YouTube accounts
9 from Google to determine who to name in the lawsuit. See App., Ex. A (“Subpoena”). The 10 subpoena asks for documents associated with the identified accounts, including any names,
11 addresses, email addresses, and telephone numbers, as well as identifying access log information,
12 such as IP addresses, for the three-month period preceding May 22, 2023, through the date Google
13 responds to the subpoena. Subpoena at 2.

14 Applicant filed an ex parte application asking this court to authorize the serving of this
15 subpoena on Respondent. See App.

16 II. LEGAL STANDARD

17 Section 1782 provides, in relevant part:

18 The district court of the district in which a person resides or is found may order him
19 to give his testimony or statement or to produce a document or other thing for use
20 in a proceeding in a foreign or international tribunal, including criminal
21 investigations conducted before formal accusation. The order may be made ... upon 22 the application of any interested person and may direct that the testimony or 23 statement be given, or the document or other thing be produced, before a person
24 appointed by the court.... To the extent that the order does not prescribe otherwise,
25 the testimony or statement shall be taken, and the document or other thing
26 produced, in accordance with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

27 28 U.S.C. § 1782(a). The statute’s purpose is “to provide federal-court assistance in the gathering
28 evidence for use in foreign tribunals.” Intel Corp. v. Advanced Micro Devices, Inc., 542 U.S. 241, 247 (2004). Section 1782 permits district courts to authorize discovery “where three general requirements are satisfied: (1) the person from whom the discovery is sought ‘resides or is found’ in the district of the district court where the application is made; (2) the discovery is ‘for use in a proceeding in a foreign or international tribunal’; and (3) the application is made by a foreign or international tribunal or ‘any interested person.’” Khrapunov v. Prosyankin, 931 F.3d 922, 925 (9th Cir. 2019) (quoting § 1782(a)).

But “a district court is not required to grant a § 1782(a) discovery application simply because it has the authority to do so.” Intel, 542 U.S. at 264. Instead, a district court has discretion to authorize discovery under Section 1782. Id. at 260-61. In exercising this discretion, a district court should consider the following four factors identified by the Supreme Court: (1) whether the “person from whom discovery is sought is a participant in the foreign proceeding”; (2) “the nature of the foreign tribunal, the character of the proceedings underway abroad, and the receptivity of the foreign government or the court or agency abroad to U.S. federal court judicial assistance”; (3) whether the request “conceals an attempt to circumvent foreign proof-gathering restrictions or other policies of a foreign country or the United States”; and (4) whether the request is “unduly intrusive or burdensome.” Id. at 264-65. In exercising its discretion, the district court should consider the twin aims of the statute: “providing efficient assistance to participants in international litigation and encouraging foreign countries by example to provide similar assistance to our courts.” Id. at 252.

Section 1782 applications are generally considered on an ex parte basis because “parties will be given adequate notice of any discovery taken pursuant to the request and will then have the opportunity to move to quash the discovery or to participate in it.” IPCom GMBH & Co. KG v. Apple Inc., 61 F. Supp. 3d 919, 922 (N.D. Cal. 2014) (quoting In re Republic of Ecuador, No. C-10-80225 MISC CRB (EMC), 2010 WL 3702427, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 15, 2010)). “Consequently, orders granting § 1782 applications typically only provide that discovery is ‘authorized,’ and thus the opposing party may still raise objections and exercise its due process rights by challenging the discovery after it is issued via a motion to quash, which mitigates concerns regarding any unfairness of granting the application ex parte.” In re Varian Med. Sys. Int’l AG, No. 16-mc-80048-MEJ, 2016 WL 1161568, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 24, 2016).

III. DISCUSSION

A. Statutory Requirements

Applicant's request satisfies the requirements of Section 1782. First, the statute requires that the respondent be found in the district. A business entity is "found" in the judicial district where it is incorporated or headquartered. Illumina Cambridge Ltd. v. Complete Genomics, Inc., No. 19-mc-80215-WHO(TSH), 2020 WL 820327, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Feb. 19, 2020) (collecting cases). Google is headquartered in Mountain View, California. Chong Decl. ¶ 6, Ex. 1. That is within this district, so this requirement is met.

Second, the discovery must be for use in a proceeding in a foreign tribunal. For a proceeding to meet this requirement, it need not be "pending" or "imminent"; it need only be "within reasonable contemplation." Intel, 542 U.S. at 259. Here, a civil lawsuit has already been filed. Chong Decl. ¶ 7.

Third, an application under Section 1782 must be brought by an "interested person." A litigant in a foreign proceeding is an "interested person" for purposes of Section 1782. Intel, 542 U.S. at 256-57. As the plaintiff in the civil lawsuit, Applicant is an interested person. See Chong Decl. ¶ 7.

B. Discretionary Intel Factors

The discretionary factors identified by the Supreme Court in Intel also weigh in favor of the Court granting the application.

1. Respondents are not participants in the foreign action.

The first factor, whether the respondent is a participant in the foreign action, supports obtaining discovery from entities who are not parties in the foreign tribunal. Intel, 542 U.S. at 264. "[N]onparticipants in the foreign proceeding may be outside the foreign tribunal's jurisdictional reach; hence, their evidence, available in the United States, may be unobtainable absent § 1782(a) aid." Id. Here, Google will not be a party or participant in the Korean civil lawsuit or criminal proceeding; the only other party would be the anonymous individual. Chong Decl. ¶ 19. This factor therefore weighs in favor of granting the application.

2. Japanese courts are receptive to U.S. judicial assistance.

The Supreme Court next requires a district court to consider “the nature of the foreign tribunal, the character of the proceedings underway abroad, and the receptivity of the foreign government or the court or agency abroad to U.S. federal-court judicial assistance.” Intel, 542 U.S. at 264. “This factor focuses on whether the foreign tribunal is willing to consider the information sought.” In re Varian Med. Sys., No. 16-mc-80048-MEJ, 2016 WL 1161568, at *4 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 24, 2016).

The Court is not aware of any directive from Korea against the use of Section 1782 evidence. See In re Jt. Stock Co. Raiffeisenbank, No. 16-mc-80203-MEJ, 2016 WL 6474224, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 2, 2016) (“Absent this type of clear directive, however, a district court’s ruling should be informed by section 1782’s overarching interest in ‘providing equitable and efficacious procedures for the benefit of tribunals and litigants involved in litigation and international aspects.’” (quoting Euromepa S.A. v. R. Esmerian, Inc., 51 F.3d 1095, 1100 (2d Cir. 1995))). And Applicant’s attorney, who is licensed to practice law in the Republic of Korea, stated that in his experience, courts in the Republic of Korea are receptive to assistance in discovery by United States federal courts. Chong Decl. ¶ 21. This factor weighs in favor of granting discovery.

3. There is no circumvention of foreign discovery procedures.

The third factor asks a court to consider whether the applicant is aiming to circumvent the foreign jurisdiction’s proof-gathering restrictions. Intel, 542 U.S. at 265. This factor will weigh in favor of discovery if there is “nothing to suggest that [the applicant] is attempting to circumvent foreign proof-gathering restrictions.” In re Google Inc., No. 14-mc-80333-DMR, 2014 WL 7146994, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Dec. 15, 2014).

Here, there is no reason to believe that Applicant is seeking to circumvent Korean evidence laws. Applicant’s attorney stated as much in his declaration. Chong Decl. ¶ 22. Absent any evidence to the contrary, this factor weighs in favor of granting discovery.

4. The request is not unduly burdensome or intrusive.

The last Intel factor asks a court to consider whether the proposed discovery is overly burdensome or intrusive. 542 U.S. at 265. The subpoena seeks information from Google about

1 the anonymous individuals. The subpoena is narrowly tailored to seeking the information that is
2 necessary to identify the putative defendants, and courts have found that requests seeking similar
3 information were not unduly intrusive or burdensome. Chong Decl. ¶¶ 23-34; see, e.g., In re Med.
4 Corp. Seishinkai, No. 21-mc-80160-SVK, 2021 WL 3514072, at *4-5 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 10, 2021).
5 To the extent Google asserts that any of the information sought by Applicant is burdensome or 6 confidential or proprietary, it can bring a motion to quash or the parties can enter a protective
7 order. See, e.g., In re Illumina Cambridge Ltd., No. 19-mc-80215- WHO (TSH), 2019 WL
8 5811467, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 7, 2019) (offering similar options to Respondents).

9 IV. ORDER

10 For the foregoing reasons, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the Court GRANTS the ex
11 parte application authorizing discovery under 28 U.S.C. § 1782(a).
